A Large Area Burned Over. A LABYRINTH OF BARNS AND SHEDS DESTROYED Boston, May 22 .- A fire covering a large pace than any which has visited this vicinity or eleven years occurred last night at Brighton. In the early evening a barn, with a large quantity of hay, was burned. Before this fire had een overcome three others sprang up in the midst of larger buildings. These structures were empty, for the most part. The barns were of wood, of enormous size, and contained no partiions to obstruct the flames. They were only a few feet apart, and the flames leaped from one building to another with great rapidity, in a very short time involving the whole labyrinth of barns and sheds in destruction. Thirteen sheds and barns were destroyed. They were mostly one-story structures, forty by one hun-dred and fifty feet. The total loss is estimated at $50,000. The property destroyed was mostly owned by the Boston and Albany railroad, and was not insured. The origin of the fire is ascribed to incendiarism. Death of Ex-Congressman Dobbing. MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., May 22 .- Ex-Congressman Samuel A. Dobbing died here to-day, aged 72 years.

promoted from $900 to $1,000, in the office of The Investigation of House Employes. THE MATTER TO GO OVER TO THE NEXT CON-

The House committee on accounts, to whom was referred the task of investigating the force of House employes, are of the opinion that it would be useless to attempt any reform this session. They have found that the force is not as efficient as it should be, and at the same time is quite expensive. They consider, however, that this is the fault of the members of congress themselves. Every employe has beaind him two or more members, and any reform that would deprive him of his place would provoke the opposition of these and other members who have friends on the force similarly situated. This was developed at a meeting of the com mittee this morning, when the subject was thoroughly discussed. In view of this it was hought better to bring in a report, making the recommendations for changes deemed necessary to be acted upon at the next session of Congress, To-night the committee will meet again to prepare the details of their report. District Government Affairs. MISCELLANEOUS.

THE PRICE OF GAS. Hearing Before the Senate Sub-Com

THE QUESTION OF REDUCED PRICES AND HIGHER BILLS AND OTHER MATTERS OF IN-TEREST TO GAS CONSUMERS.

Senators Spooner and Blackburn, as the sub District committee of the Senate, this morning resumed the inquiry into the price of gas in Washington. President McIlhenny and Secre Mr. W. C. Dodge, Mr. James Crutchett, Senator Van Wyck and several others were present. Messrs. McIlhenny and Bailey said they had not been able to prepare the exhibit of expenditures asked for; that it would be ready Mon-

MR. BLACKBURN SCORES A POINT. Mr. Blackburn replied that nobody except you would only tell us," he added, "we could know."

Mr. McIlhenny professed a willingness to give all the information wanted. He submitted a report of the proceedings of the gas investigation in New York, and said the officers of gas companies testified that gas cost them from $1.03 to $1.25 a thousand cubic feet. Mr. Dodge remarked that of course the presi dents of the companies there testified as the president did here, that it cost them high fig-

REDUCED PRICES AND HIGHER BILLS. Mr. Spooner said that many consumers here had complained that the reduction of the price of gas was not followed with a decrease in their bills; that in fact their bills increased. He asked if that were true or false. Mr. McIlhenny replied that it was false,

Mr. Blachburn said he did not want to take any advantage of the company, but he had bills, accompanied by sworn statements to the effect that their bills had increased since the price of gas was lowered. He added that these were reputable people, too. Mr. McIlhenny said their books would show. Mr. Blackburn said he didn't care anything about the books; that the receipted gas bills would show for themselves. Senator Van Wyck said he had a statemen from a reputable citizen of this city to the effect that he does not burn any more gas now than formerly, yet his bills amount to as much as when the price of gas was four dollars per thou-Mr. Totten suggested that these citizens be brought before the committee. Mr. Blackburn said: "All in good time. They will come before the committee and verify all that I have stated "

GEN. WHITTAKER'S TESTIMONY. idence, No. 2315 M street northwest. That bill was for gas alleged to have been consumed in January, 1885. He knew that he had not burned that much gas, and he went to the gas office and protested. He was told that his meter did not register, and it was taken out and the gas estimated by previous months. Gen. Whittaker went to the gas inspector and found that a different meter from that by which he was charged was labeled with his name. He went back to the office, and a clerk was about to give him a corrected bill, when the chief clerk interposed and tore up the corrected bill, saying he made out the original, and it was correct

Gen. Whittaker went to the inspector's again and found that the meter which he had had in fact was numbered 135,384, while the meter by which he was charged was numbered 126,732. He confronted the office with this proof and got a corrected bill for 2,200 feet of gas. Gen. Whittaker presented the original and corrected bill, and they were put in evi-

THE HALF MILLION DIVISON.

Mr. Mcllhenny, referring to the division of $500,000 among the stockholders, said it was approved by the congressional committee which then had charge of the gas question. Mr. Blackburn wanted to know what he Mr. McIlhenny replied that the committee knew of the division. Mr. Blackburn wanted to know who approved it; what members of Congress. Mr. McIlhenny could not give the names a it was too far back.

MR. BLACKBURN PROTESTED against his saddling any such charge upon Congress unless he could give the names and Mr. Spooner in this connection read the act authorizing the enlargement of stock and reauthorizing the enlargement of stock and requiring it to be paid in cash, showing that Congress did not intend that the extension should be done by means of donations from earnings. WHAT SENATOR VAN WYCK PROPOSES TO PROVE.

some questions. He said Mr. McIlhenny last Monday stated that the stockholders paid in, in cash, $1,500,000 of the stock, Senator Van Wyck said he had stated that the increase stock came out of the earnings, and he proposed to prove it. He took up the sworn reports of the company to Congress, and read from the figures showing the dividends and distributions. In reply to questions Mr. McIlhenny admitted that within two years the company paid two fifty-per-cent dividends, in addition to regular dividends, of fifty per cent each, amounting to $1,000,000, running up the stock to $2,000,000, and then a forty per cent dividend on $2,000,000, amounting to 8800,000. These dividends, which were allotted to stockholders, were in addition to regular dividends, as was shown in a sworn statement made to Congress, addressed to Hon. John Sherman, president of the Senate, and lated March 16, 1886. Mr. Van Wyck asked Mr. McIlhenny if he was willing to say, in view of these dividends, f the price of gas could not be reduced. Mr. McIlhenny preferred not to answer that question. He said that most of the stockholders who were in the company at the time of these dividends are now out of the company, many of them dead, and he did not think the present company should be held for past deeds any more than present government officials should be held for the acts of their predeessors. He said those distributions represented the accumulations from the sale of gas at high To Mr. Totten he said that so far as he knew the surplus was the proceeds of the sale of gas; that some of the surplus was probably invested

Mr. McIhenny replied that he meant he would not allow his personal integrity to be impeached. To Mr. Van Wyck he said the company had to tear up streets in laying new mains, and this necessarily hurts the street somewhat. FIGURES DON'T LIE.
